

Users of the intellectual properties published by Youth1st Lacrosse (including books, website, news services, educational works and any other aspects of the products and services of Youth1st Lacrosse) are responsible for their own actions and outcomes and are advised to seek legal counsel or other professional advice before acting on any information or recommendations received.

The owners, publishers, authors, instructors, editors, coaches and contributors therefore expressly disclaim all and any liability to any person in respect of anything and any consequence as a result of the use of the works which may be taken through Youth1st Lacrosse, including any news releases or commentary, courseware, workshops, conferences, webcasts, online materials, calculators, libraries or other information resource herein referred. Youth1st Lacrosse makes no representations or warranties with respect to third party software used in its programs and accepts no responsibility with respect to its use by the student. Only those warranties available from software developers are applicable.

Users of the intellectual properties of Youth1st Lacrosse including its websites, courses or other services of Youth1st Lacrosse are also herewith notified that the company, its principals, shareholders, employees, writers, instructors or subcontractors are not involved in any aspect of any business conducted by any persons or companies for which it supplies or offers courseware, information or intellectual property management services, including resellers of its courseware, and does not endorse any such person or companies or its products or services. Youth1st Lacrosse therefore expressly disclaims any responsibility for any consequence any person or entity has in relation to dealings with any such person or company.

The examples used in the intellectual property published by Youth1st Lacrosse are fictitious unless otherwise stated and any resemblance to real life people, facts or circumstances is purely coincidental.
